
Author Dr. Richard Freund to speak at Beth El Temple - Entertainment

Author Dr. Richard Freund to speak at Beth El Temple

Published: Wednesday, May 11, 2011

WEST HARTFORD – Dr. Richard Freund, author of the book, «Finding Atlantis and Tarshish,» will speak at Beth El Temple on Sunday, May 22.

Affectionately referred to as Connecticut's own «Indiana Jones,» Professor Richard Freund, Ph.D, director of the Maurice Greenberg Center for Judaic Studies at the University of Hartford, is world renowned for his work on the archaeology of the land of Israel, biblical studies, Jewish ethics and philosophy. He was recently filmed in the new National Geographic Channel film entitled, «Finding Atlantis,» which premiered on March 13, 2011.

Find out how Freund connected the Lost City of Atlantis to Spain and the Straits of Gibraltar and how he confirmed his findings by attending the event. Freund will be sharing his story in a community-wide program «Finding Atlantis and Tarshish» on Sunday May 22, from 10 a.m. to 12 noon at Beth El Temple, 2626 Albany Ave., West Hartford.

Freund will present unpublished pieces of the story that include why Atlantis might actually be biblical Tarshish. He will show parts of the program released by National Geographic and emphasize the Biblical aspects and tie-ins to ancient Jewish history. Admission is $10 and $5 for Beth El Temple Men's Club members, teens and children. Admission also includes an elegant brunch. Seating is limited and reservations are required by Wednesday, May 18. Contact Harley Graime (860) 582-9027 or hgraime@att.net to RSVP.

This event is co-sponsored by the Beth El Temple Men's Club and Chai Society.

WEST HARTFORD – Dr. Richard Freund, author of the book, «Finding Atlantis and Tarshish,» will speak at Beth El Temple on Sunday, May 22.

Affectionately referred to as Connecticut's own «Indiana Jones,» Professor Richard Freund, Ph.D, director of the Maurice Greenberg Center for Judaic Studies at the University of Hartford, is world renowned for his work on the archaeology of the land of Israel, biblical studies, Jewish ethics and philosophy. He was recently filmed in the new National Geographic Channel film entitled, «Finding Atlantis,» which premiered on March 13, 2011.

Find out how Freund connected the Lost City of Atlantis to Spain and the Straits of Gibraltar and how he confirmed his findings by attending the event. Freund will be sharing his story in a community-wide program «Finding Atlantis and Tarshish» on Sunday May 22, from 10 a.m. to 12 noon at Beth El Temple, 2626 Albany Ave., West Hartford.

Freund will present unpublished pieces of the story that include why Atlantis might actually be biblical Tarshish. He will show parts of the program released by National Geographic and emphasize the Biblical aspects and tie-ins to ancient Jewish history. Admission is $10 and $5 for Beth El Temple Men's Club members, teens and children. Admission also includes an elegant brunch. Seating is limited and reservations are required by Wednesday, May 18.

Author Dr. Richard Freund to speak at Beth El Temple - Entertainment

Contact Harley Graime (860) 582-9027 or hgraime@att.net to RSVP.

This event is co-sponsored by the Beth El Temple Men's Club and Chai Society.

FIND A LOCAL BUSINESS